New Legislation

Local Occupational Licenses To Be Denied If Proof Of State Licensure Cannot Be Provided

In an effort to curb the upswing of unlicensed businesses, the Legislature in the 1985 session passed a new law prohibiting the issuing of local occupational licenses to businesses for which state licensure, certification or registration is required if such businesses cannot provide proof that they hold a current and valid state license. It further requires that the Department of Professional Regulation provide to local officials responsible for the issuance of occupational licenses a current list of professions it regulates as well as a list of names for whom occupational licenses should not be issued or renewed.

The purpose of this legislation is to protect the people of Florida from those individuals whose licenses have been suspended, revoked or should not be licensed because of the inability to meet the minimum standards of a profession.

Your attention is directed to the following law, and it is suggested that you keep in your files for future reference.

CHAPTER 85-278 House Bill No. 1219

An act relating to local occupational licenses; creating s. 205.194, F.S.; prohibiting issuance of such license for the practice of any profession for which state licensure, certification, or registration is required unless an active state license, certificate, or registration is exhibited; requiring the Department of Professional Regulation to supply a list of regulated professions and of professionals with inactive licenses to local governments; providing exemptions; amending s. 463.011, F.S., and repealing ss. 205.195, 205.197, 205.198, 205.199, and 480.051, F.S., relating to such prohibition with respect to certain individual professions; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 205.194, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

205.194 Prohibition of local occupational licensure without exhibition of state license or registration.—

(1) Any person applying for or renewing a local occupational license for the licensing period beginning October 1, 1985, to practice any profession regulated by the Department of Professional Regulation, or any board or commission thereof, shall exhibit an active state certificate, registration, or license, or proof of copy of the same, before such local occupational license may be issued. Thereafter, only persons applying for the first time for a local occupational license shall be required to exhibit such certification, registration, or license.

(2) The Department of Professional Regulation shall, by August 1 of each year, supply to the local official who issues local occupational licenses a current list of professions it regulates, and information regarding those persons for whom local occupational licenses should not be renewed due to the suspension, revocation, or inactivation of such person's state license, certificate, or registration. The official who issues local occupational licenses shall not renew such license unless such person can exhibit an active state certificate, registration, or license.

(3) The provisions of this section shall not apply to ss. 489.113, 489.117, 489.119, 489.131, 489.511, 489.513, 489.521, and 489.537.

Law Changed on Inactive Licenses

Professional Land Surveyors who have allowed their licenses to become inactive are in danger of losing them entirely after only four years, rather than the formerly prescribed 10, according to a recent revision of F.S. 472.019, which went into effect October 1, 1983.

Formerly, licensed surveyors had 10 years to reactivate inactive licenses. Now, however, a license that has been inactive for more than four years will automatically expire. Once it expires, it becomes null and void without any further action by the State Board of Professional Land Surveyors or the Department of Professional Regulation.

Surveyors whose licenses have expired will need to apply for licensure under current standards and legal qualifications and may require retesting.

Licenses Who Do Not Renew Cannot Practice

Below is a list of licensees who have not renewed their Professional Land Surveyor's license. By law, those licenses revert to inactive status; a Land Surveyor cannot practice on an inactive license.

The Board office needs (and appreciates) up-to-date information about its licensees. If you know that a person whose name appears on this list has died, or changed names, or moved, please notify us. If your own name appears on this list, please contact the Board office if you have any questions or wish to change your status.
